Employment

Five trends shaping the future of work

Everything we know about the future of work is being shaped by five trends: globalisation, mobility, millennials and changing demographics, new behaviours and technology. For the first time, these five trends are coming together and forcing organisations to change the way they think about how work gets done.

While the video that presents this information is aimed at employers, you might find it of interest as it does explain how these trends are impacting the world of work.

Future proof jobs and new jobs

An article on the Workforce Blueprint website suggests that while there are jobs that will be taken over by robots and automation in the future (e.g. commercial pilots, legal work, technical writing, telemarketers, accountants, retail workers and real estate sales agents), many other jobs will continue to be in demand. These include construction managers, medical and health services managers, sales representatives, registered nurses, market research and marketing specialists, software systems developers, teachers and specialist physicians. But what about the jobs that don't exist yet? The article lists the following predicted jobs.

- Future Currency Speculator – a virtual currency market expert
- Productivity Counsellor – to provide advice on a range of topics (e.g. wellness, time management) to help employees improve their value to employers
- Microbial Balancer – needed to assess the composition of new forms of bacteria
- Crowdfunding Specialist – expert advisers to help fundraisers promote their causes

Social Enterprises

If you are passionate about an issue and you want to do something about it, a social enterprise might be the answer. Rather than collecting money from sponsors and donations, a social enterprise takes the same approach to making money as a business. It sells a product or service and then spends the profits on supporting a cause. If this interests you, visit the Foundation for Young Australians website for tips on starting a social enterprise.

QTAC & Tertiary Entry

Fixed closing dates

Some courses have fixed closing dates. These are usually courses that require interviews, folios or auditions. In addition, some course requirements may be needed earlier than the QTAC Early Bird application due date of 29 September 2017. A list of most of these courses and their required closing dates or due dates can be found on pages 22 and 23 in the 2018 Year 12 Guide. Examples of early fixed closing dates:

- 14 August – Audition applications for UQ Music
- 14 August – Audition and folio application for Queensland Conservatorium courses
- 31 August – QTAC applications and JCU Application Form submissions from international students for dentistry (see pages 108 and 109 of the QTAC Guide).
- 15 September – Registration with QUT for Creative Industry courses with additional entry requirements.

Note that if you don't meet the due dates, you will not be considered for the course.

How are applicants selected for courses through QTAC?

Entry to many of the courses you can apply for through QTAC is competitive. Consequently, many institutions use specific selection criteria to select students. Once institution admission rules are met (i.e. English Language Proficiency – automatic for most domestic students; age requirements – generally 18 years or completion of Year 12) selection is based on:

- meeting minimum entry requirements for the course (these may include subject prerequisites (usually Authority subjects), a folio; an interview or audition; a specific test, an essay or questionnaire; the successful completion of a course), and
- merit (OPs and FPs or a QTAC Selection Rank).

Through the QTAC process, eligible applicants (i.e. those who meet the entry requirements) are considered in order of merit (i.e. OP or QTAC Selection Rank). In very simplistic terms, the OP or Rank of the last person to get into the course before all places are filled becomes the cut-off for that course in that offer round.

How will I know I have an offer?

You can get only one offer per offer round. This is for your highest eligible preference (i.e. the highest course on your preference list where you have met the minimum entry requirements and your OP/Rank is above the cut-off). If you get an offer, QTAC will send you an email or SMS notifying you to log in to your QTAC application account to view, print and respond to your offer.

Year 12 students could receive an offer anytime from 17 November 2017 onwards. It is essential that you monitor your emails and mobile phone (for an SMS) from the 17 November until you firmly accept an offer. If you receive an offer, you have four days to respond to it. If you don't respond by the due date, the offer will lapse and you will no longer be considered for a course. If this happens, contact QTAC immediately. Remember to use your private email address NOT your school email address on your QTAC application.

Key dates for the QTAC application and offer process for 2017/18 (for Year 12 students)

Most of the following information can be accessed from the 2018 Year 12 Guide, p. 21. Fixed closing dates and 21 December 2017 major offer round courses are on p. 22 and p. 23.

What is a QTAC Selection Rank?

A QTAC Selection Rank is:

- a number given to a qualification
- on a scale from 1 to 99 (highest/best)
- derived from a QTAC or institution specific schedule.

Your school Guidance Officer/Counsellor can show you a schedule that compares OPs with QTAC Selection Ranks. Examples of qualifications that may be allocated a QTAC Selection Rank for a Year 12 QTAC applicant include:

- OP Ineligible students are allocated a QTAC Selection Rank from results on their Senior Statement when they apply for tertiary courses through QTAC
- Certificates III and IV, Diplomas
- Some Music, dancing and speech and drama qualifications.

The laws of learning

The following laws of learning and remembering are oldies but goodies.

- Primacy – We tend to remember material that is presented first or early in the lesson.
- Recency – Work completed most recently is often best remembered.
- Frequency – The more often material is presented or revised the more likely it is to be remembered.
- Vividness – Material that is presented in interesting, attention-getting ways is more likely to be remembered.

This information is adapted from Study Smart, Department of Education, Queensland.
